HB1071

Health - Health and Wellness Standards - Correctional Facilities and Health Care Facilities

March 9, 2021

Dear Chairman Pendergrass, Vice-chair Pena-Melnyk, and Health and Government Operations and Judiciary Committees Members,

HB1071 seeks to improve the short and long-term health of inmates, clients in residential treatment centers and hospital patients, and lower health care costs in Maryland by requiring 1) the adoption of health and wellness standards that incorporate plant-based meal options, 2) requiring that food standards for correctional facilities, hospitals and residential treatment centers be regularly updated every five years, consistent with the latest science and knowledge of best practices in diet, nutrition and health, 3) that the plant-based whole meals, foods and beverages be available as options at every meal in hospitals and residential treatment facilities, 4) allow inmates to opt into any of the available diet plans (kosher, halal, vegetarian, diabetic, etc.) without requiring a doctor's note or religious exception, and 5) the conduction of a pilot study in at least 4 correctional institutions to examine the potential health benefits of incorporation of plant-based food options by requiring their Master Cycle Menu include 100% plant- based meal options at least one time per week as part of the standard menu offerings. Finally, the Maryland Department of Health will be required to provide all health care providers in hospitals and correctional facilities information on how to become trained and board certified in plant-based nutrition and Lifestyle Medicine, an important tool in helping health care providers address the approximately 30% of inmates who may suffer from chronic degenerative disease.

HB1071 is introduced not only because the health and wellness of people charged to our care is a just concern, but also because not doing so, is costly to the state, particularly where inmates are concerned. Currently, while correctional facilities do offer lacto/ovo vegetarian options for each meal, they do not include whole meals rich in complex carbohydrates, fats and necessary vitamin and mineral supplements that ensure full and balanced nutrition. It is the consumption of the complex carbohydrates that are found in plant-based vs. non-plant-based diets that research shows to be instrumental in reducing and reversing chronic and debilitating health conditions such as cardiovascular disease, diabetes and chronic inflammation. These diseases generally require medications to manage and provoke the development of other diseases and conditions that, over a lifetime, contribute to poorer quality of life, diminished productivity, decreased life expectancy, and increased healthcare costs. Maryland spends $150 million per year on inmate healthcare and 30% of the cost is on chronic degenerative diseases that we know can be improved and reversed through healthier diets generally and plant-based diets especially. The potential impact on heart disease, which can be reversed through plant-based nutrition, and is the leading cause of death for all Maryland residents, including inmates in correctional facilities, justifies passage of this bill.

In 2019, Maryland entered into a five year, $680 million contract with Corizon to provide healthcare in our correctional facilities. HB1071's pilot study includes a reporting requirement to provide oversight and transparency so that any changes in illnesses or diagnoses of inmates that may result from the implementation of this legislation may be documented. The end goals are simple: better food choices, physically and mentally healthier Marylanders, and reduced medical costs.

I ask for a favorable report on HB1071.
